

RESTORE WESLEY UNITED

The Wesley United

A Digital Arts and Training Center for the 21st Century in New Orleans' Central City

Contribute!

Many supporters of the project to restore the building that was home to the United States' eighth-oldest African-American church, the Wesley United Methodist Church, and to transform this building into a new hub for New Orleans' Central City, the Wesley United, a Digital Arts and Training Center for the 21st century, have already contributed to the project's Adopt-a-Pew and Adopt-a-Brick programs.

These first contributors come from across the United States and from just one block away (the Early Childhood and Family Learning Foundation in the Mahalia Jackson Center) along Jackson Avenue. These contributors are helping a city-wide resurgence that combines long-standing natives' efforts with national and international support. They're all combining to make a new model of cooperation and creativity for this century.

New Orleans, rich in its mixtures of culture and history, is an especially fertile place for new seeds and growth in this century.

You can join in contributing funds. You can also volunteer for work at 2517 Jackson Avenue in New Orleans. You can contribute your skills to our efforts, wherever you are. You can stage a benefit anywhere. However you wish to contribute, you'll be part of this important regeneration and part of 21st-century history.
